Unique AutoCalibration Featured On AutoFarm® ParaDyme™ System

Steering System Calibrates in minutes with Fast, Simple Process

FREMONT, CA – March 26, 2010 – The ParaDyme System recently introduced by AutoFarm owes a great deal of its success to features such as AutoFarm AutoCalibration.

AutoFarm AutoCalibration gives full steering system calibration in a simple process that can typically be accomplished in less than 10 minutes on most wheeled vehicles.

As Robin Kellen, Customer Service Director for AutoFarm described it, “Once you select self calibrate, you just hit the start button and it’s done. It does everything for you...press the button then sit back and watch.”

The ParaDyme System is the industry’s first single system solution to all facets of precision farming: planter control, application control, yield monitoring, data logging and management, plus hands-free GPS steering via WAAS, EGNOS, OmniSTAR HP/XP, and RTK. It is also GLONASS ready. Plus, with its unique factory-integrated wireless, ParaDyme offers a Remote Real-Time Service connection to the dealer in addition to optional RTK ReadyConnect that provides RTK correction without a base station.
